The Parks and Recreation Technical Services (PARTS) unit publishes a variety of helpful documents aimed to assist park and recreation providers in their efforts at planning, management and the development of public park and recreation lands and facilities throughout California. Many of these publications and documents can be found online, including:

- Getting A Grip on Grants: A How-to Manual for Park and Recreation Providers and its companion document and soon-to-be-released Directory of Grant Funding Sources for California Park and Recreation Providers (by June 1, 2004);
- plans of statewide significance, such as the California Recreation Trails Plan;
- long range planning for the protection, development, and management of the State Park System's individual park units, such as the State Park System Plan; and
- articles on planning an interpretive trail, review of the Quimby Act, conference presentations and many other subjects.

Sample publications found online include:

- Paying for Parks, 2003
- A Park and Recreation Professionals' Glossary, 2003
- California Leaders' Opinions of Parks and Recreation, 2003
- Business Leaders' Opinions of Parks and Recreation: A Survey of California Chambers of Commerce, 2003
- Education Leaders' Opinions of Parks and Recreation, A Survey of California School Superintendents, 2003
- California Outdoor Recreation Plan (CORP), 2002
- The State Park System Plan Part I: A System for the Future, 2002
- The State Park System Plan Part II: Initiatives for Action, 2002
- Planning Milestones for the Park Units and Major Properties Associated with the California State Park System, 2003

Park and Recreation Technical Services (PARTS) publications can be found on the Department's web site by going to www.parks.ca.gov/parts.

Watch also for a soon-to-be-completed compendium of Innovative Case Studies involving inventive solutions to park and recreation problems ranging from funding to operations and maintenance, anticipated to be completed during the summer of 2004.

Many grant programs administered by the Office of Grants and Local Services can also be found on the Department's web site. For more information, please contact the Planning Division at 916 653-9901 or the Office of Grants and Local Services at 916 653-7423.
